Light grey oak

'Light grey oak' is a true classic amongst the Viligno floors. Its faded greyish colour and soft grain allow it to blend seamlessly with any interior and every style of furniture. 'Light grey oak' supports interiors with soft tones as equally well as those with bright, hip colour schemes. Perfect for a child's bedroom.

Traditional oak

The Viligno 'Traditional oak' has a slightly more unpolished appearance. With its pronounced grain this floor suits a more rural and remarkably natural style. Perfect for combining with furniture, accessories or doors of untreated wood and with fabrics, pillows, and covers of authentic, natural materials such as linen, for example.

Reclaimed grey oak

This Viligno floor combines the looks of weathered, recycled floorboards with the advantages of new and durable flooring. 'Reclaimed grey oak' looks as if it were plucked from an old store room or an abandoned ware house. The floor works best in spacious rooms with plenty of natural light. The very best of a loft style interior.

Dark grey tile

The Viligno 'Dark grey tile' gives a completely new dimension to the term country kitchen. Its colour, structure, and appearance perfectly harmonise with kitchen countertops made from grey freestone or granite, with vintage taps and stove, painted cupboards, classic wall tiles, and sturdy, rural furniture.
